

SENIORS

1987 Graduates

Mr. Hawkins demonstrates teacher maturity.

The Class of '87

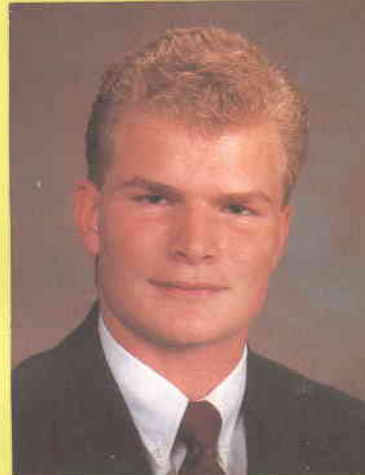

We travel many miles in our school careers. The mad dashes to class before the tardy bell rings, the laps we run in P.E., the hours of conditioning for our favorite sport, and who can ever forget the seemingly endless three foot walk to the podium to present an oral report. Our paths often lead us out of DeWitt, as we follow teams to away games, cruise on weekends, and take the adventurous bus ride home from school.

We will leave our accomplishments and memories to the up-coming achievers, but we each leave our own unique footprints that can never be replaced by another.

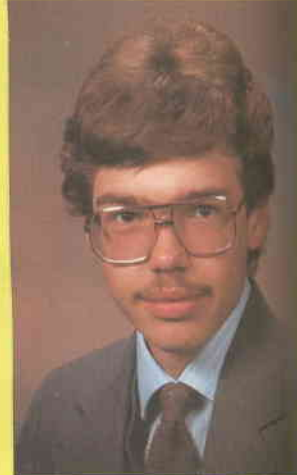

We will cross into a new stage in our lives, developing it to the fullest. Our futures are sure to be bright, vivacious and fulfilling, our pasts were productive and certainly memorable, and our future holds the uncertainty and the anticipation of changes and new beginnings.

As we prepare to take a new step in our lives, we will join a tide of others who have journeyed through D.H.S. in the past, and managed to maintain their own identities and ideas. We felt ready to move on.

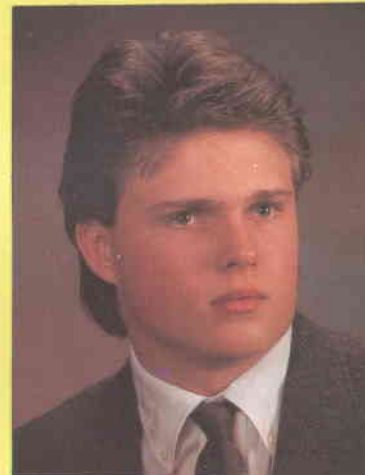

We are the Class of '87

Mark Alverson

William Armour

Steve Bairak

Linette Ballard

Julie Bongel

Patrick Boskimer