A breath of fresh air—Enjoying a break on the geology class's hike, David Friedman is the main participant in a one-way conversation with Jon Stauffer. He hasn't realized that Jon is listening through a headset, but when he does he won't be too happy about wasting an hour and a half talking to himself.

Suck it in—Spaghetti is Greg Smith's favorite food from the cafeteria's menu selection. He likes to eat it like Italian and pretend he's a fish while he's eating. Do real fish eat spaghetti? Better suck it up, Greg yourself.

Half-Nelson—Savoring a moment to himself away from the stresses of school and his twin brother, Dan Nelson relaxes with a laugh. A new addition to DeWitt High School this year, Dan has quickly adjusted to midwestern school life after having attended school in California.

A new direction—The use of compasses adds variety to Mr. Thornton's Geometry class. Andrea Stafford is careful to use hers only for good and never for evil purposes. Safety comes first in handling dangerously pointed objects.
