"I thought that the seniors were so overpowering when I was a freshman. If they were coming down the hall my direction, I would get out of their way really fast. I was so scared, I thought that they were so much older than me, and now that I am a senior, the freshmen look so young! I want our class to be remembered as the class who turned around what everyone thought of us."

• Amy Taylor

"I thought that the seniors were like kings! They ruled the building and if you didn't like it, you just kept your mouth shut, or you would get hurt. Our class should be remembered as the one who got along with everybody. Our class was friends with everybody."

• Chad Seibert

"My first impression was that the seniors were cruel. That was just after the football players, though. After the first week, it was not that big of a deal. I knew a few of them, so it took away from that 'king' image. I hope we will be remembered as kind, helping people."

• Geoff Doody

"When we were freshmen, all of the seniors seemed very big and mean. You would just walk the other way. You would never come into accidental contact with them. I would like our senior class to be the one that made a positive difference to DeWitt High School."

• Mindy B

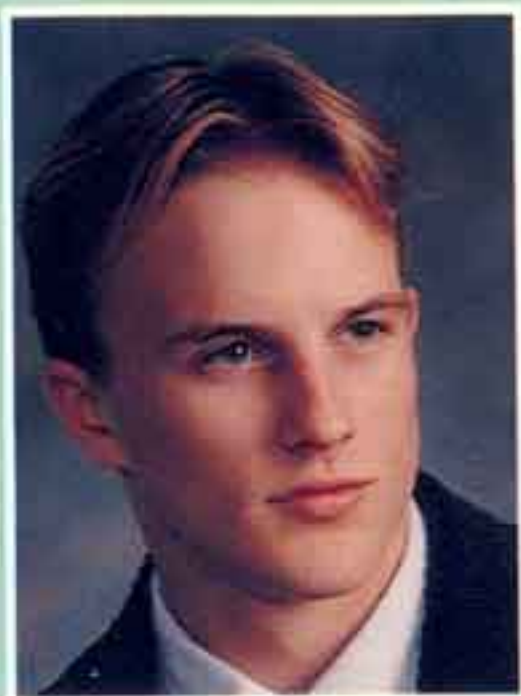

"A lot of the seniors were jerks and tried to bully us around. At football practice in the summer, they would drag people through the mud. I think our class will be remembered as all-right people who chilled with anyone."

• Nate Powell

"I was really scared of the seniors...They were so big! The funny thing is, I don't feel any different from four years ago. I want our class to be remembered as a close class, where everyone gets along."
